

Scalar Problems: From the Microscopic to Big Histories

A workshop sponsored by the Berliner Antike-Kolleg

Organized by Susan Pollock (Professor, Inst. of Western Asian Archaeology, Free University of Berlin) and Philipp von Rummel (General Secretary, German Archaeological Institute)

29 June 2020, 15.00-19.00/3 PM-7 PM (Central European time)

15.00-15.30 Introduction by the organizers, introduction of the participants

15.30-17.00 Archaeological engagements with scalar problems, including presentations by J. Robb and S. Souvatzi

17.00-17.15 Break

17.15-18.45 Scales and scalar issues in historical thinking, including presentations by W. Pohl and D. Smail

18.45-19.00 Wrap-up and outlook

The presenters:

Walter Pohl – Professor, Institute of Austrian Historical Research, University of Vienna and Director of the Institute for Medieval Research, Austrian Academy of Sciences

John Robb – Professor, Department of Archaeology, Cambridge University

Stella Souvatzi – Adjunct Professor of Archaeology, Hellenic Open University

Daniel Lord Smail – Professor, Department of History, Harvard University